STILL RISING ANEW ON WINGS OF FAITH.

[April 22, 1906]

Out of the Distraction of Broken Homes and Vanished Enterprise the Spirit of San Francisco Soars Undaunted—First Sabbath Since Destruction Came Finds Her Genius Employed.

Gen. Funston Declares all Danger past—Can Make No Estimate of Dead.

BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "All efforts are now being turned to bring order out of chaos," said Gen. Funston to a representative of The Times this afternoon. "Apparently all danger is past, and everything will shape itself into order. Of course it will be necessary to thoroughly guard the city for some time to come, and the major portion of this duty will be military."

The portion of the city covered by United States soldiers has been divided into six districts; four of them being guarded by the army, one by the marine and one by the navy. Other portions of the city are being patrolled by the National Guard and by the police force. I believe that there will be little trouble from looting, and practically no more looting."

UNNUMBERED DEAD.

The public is anxious to know your estimate of the number of dead. Estimates from 200 to 10,000 having been made by the press," said the Times representative.

"The public will never know," answered Gen. Funston, shaking his head slowly and with a far-away expression of thought and pain in his eyes. "No, the actual number can never be known."

The loss was sudden and terrible. The fire in that section of the city, which ran down to the lower water front, where the greatest destruction undoubtedly took place, was so terrific that little else could be done but to leave the dead where they fell. The greatest number of bones are left to form an estimate from. My first estimate of the number of dead was 1,000, and I stand by that now. The actual number of dead is the minimum."

REFUGEES NUMBER 300,000.

"What is your estimate of the number of refugees in San Francisco?" was asked.

"There are 300,000 refugees. I believe that half that number are in the city. Most of them are located between here (Fort Point) and Golden Gate Park. At the rate at which we are being taken from the city, this number will rapidly diminish. There need be no fear as to the matter of water and food supplies. There will be plenty, plenty; particularly of the latter."

WHERE DEAD LAY THICKLY.

"I regard to the number of the dead again," continued Gen. Funston, "block after block of roughly and cheaply built houses in the north of Market street were leveled to the ground by the quake, and the loss of life, if not resulting from falling in with the sweep of the fire. The district was thickly populated with people whose names were hardly known by their neighbors in life, and whose names now never will be known."

NO FRICTION WITH SCHMITZ.

Gen. Funston refutes the report that friction has existed between him and Mayor Schmitz, and apropos of this the following telegram was sent by the Mayor today:

WASHERTON, April 22.—To Hon. William H. Taft, Washington: Supplementing my telegram of yesterday, I wish again, in the midst of our great troubles, to express my indignation at the extremely malicious and decidedly untruthful suggestion that exists between Gen. Funston and myself. * * * I emphasize the pleasantness and harmony of our relations.

E. E. SCHMITZ,

Mayor of San Francisco.

Black Point, hanging on the cliffs of Black Point, is the busiest and most picturesque spot in San Francisco today. There is an awfully dignified air about the place, with its many guards, military and the business-like movements of officers and men. Few are allowed to enter within its gates, and the missions of those who do so are disposed of with that accuracy and dispatch peculiar to government headquarters. Scores of automobiles enter and exit the gate, and each car contains an armed guard. The front seat furiously blowing a sentry whistle to clear the way. At the sound of that tremolo the crowds scatter as if San Francisco's under martial law.

BUILDING COMMITTEE'S TOUR.

An important meeting of the building committee appointed by the city was held this afternoon, and it was decided that this morning and a firing squad would start early tomorrow to inspect the more important portions of the city. All walls or masonry considered dangerous to passing traffic will be shot down. J. A. Deenen, chairman of the committee, stated that Market street would be the first to be inspected.

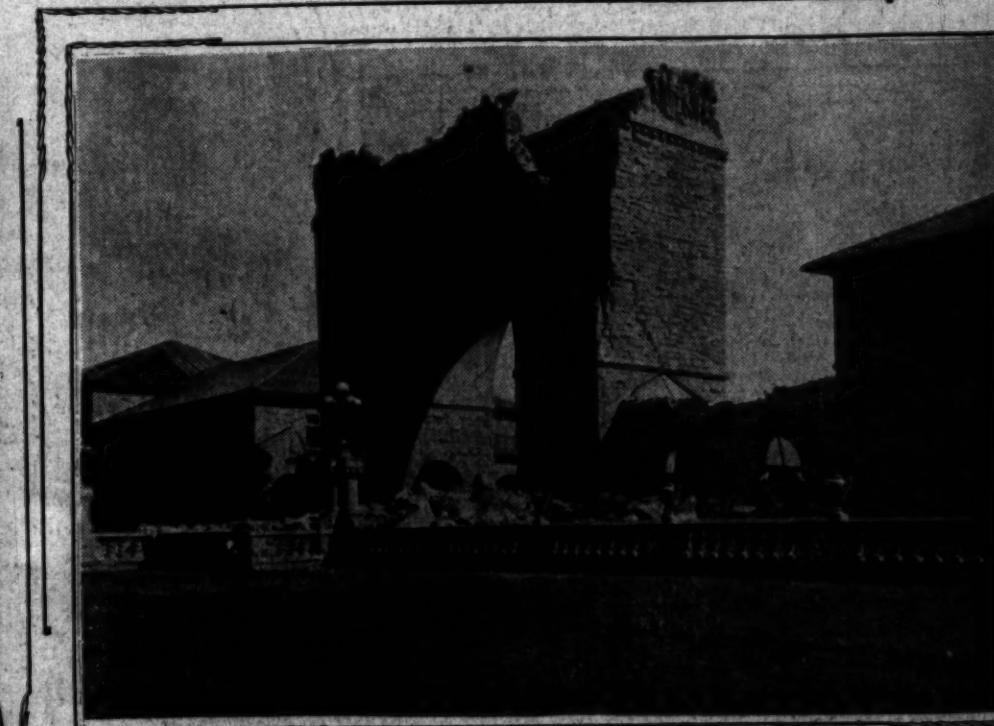

Insurance companies, through the underwriters, have placed a bet with Gen. Funston that no more dynamite be used in the reconstruction of the city, as it is feared that the explosions will be more intense.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC'S TRAVEL.

President of Transportation M. F. Richardson of the Southern Pacific says that 65,000 people were taken out of San Francisco on Wednesday, the day of the earthquake, and that since then the people have been transported at the rate of 30,000 a day. On Wednesday we moved cars, loaded to the guard, off the broad-gauge pier at the rate of seventy-five an hour. A more dense and frantic crowd never surged into railroad coaches before. Really, it is a wonder that we were able to move any cars at all, so constant was the outpouring.

"The ten largest ferryboats of the Southern Pacific Company have crossed and recrossed the bay night and day without ceasing since the first heavy shock of earthquake, and each boatload contains the limit of capacity."

DR. TAGGART SHOT.

Dr. Taggart of Los Angeles, a leader of the Los Angeles relief bureau, accidentally shot himself while entering a hospital at the corner of Page and Baker streets, at noon today. He was mounting the stairs, stumbled and fell. A pistol which he carried in his inside coat pocket was discharged; the bullet entering near the heart. He rose to his feet and cried, "I am dying," and fell into the arms of a physician on the step below. Death was almost instantaneous.

FIFTEEN TRAINS OF SUPPLIES.

A. G. Wells, accompanied by five other officers of the Pacific Coast division of the Santa Fe, had a conference with Gen. Funston this morning, at which Wells stated that fifteen trainloads of relief supplies were on the way to this city over the lines of that company.

Complete arrangements were decided upon for their disposition. Announcement was made that refugees would be transported by the Santa Fe free of charge to any point in California reached by their lines.

MINERS LAID LOW IN COLORADO COAL MINE.

Another Man Missing—Forty Were in the Shafts at the Time—Seventeen Escape Uninjured—Fire Boss James Reed Is Among the Dead. Were Mostly Foreigners.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.

TRINIDAD (Colo.) April 22.—As the result of a coal explosion in a mine of the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company, forty miles west of Trinidad, shortly before noon today, twenty-two miners are known to be dead and one other is missing, with little hopes of being found alive.

There were forty men in the mine at the time of the explosion. Several miners, who were working 100 feet from the entrance, escaped uninjured through another opening. The explosion occurred in rooms 1 and 4, near the main entrance, and was the result of a shot which ignited the dust.

News has been received by a local undertaking establishment here that many bodies have been taken out during the afternoon. Miners from adjacent camps are assisting in the rescue.

Among the dead is James Reed, fire boss. Most of the others are Indians and Japanese.

FUNSTON SAYS NO EPIDEMIC EXISTS.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 22.—The Associated Press is requested to transmit the following:

WAR DEPARTMENT, HEADQUARTERS PACIFIC DIVISION, San Francisco, Cal., April 22, 1906.—Several telegrams have been received at these headquarters requesting information as to epidemics of contagious diseases in the city of San Francisco. There is absolutely no truth in any of these statements. There is no epidemic of any kind and no present prospect of any. Such statements are simply doing harm to San Francisco and injuring the country in general. It would be deemed a great service to the suffering people of San Francisco and all their friends if it could be published throughout the country the conditions are not so.

BANK WRECKERS SENTENCED.

ABILENE (Tex.) April 22.—W. Stennis, 30, of Abilene, and two others, were tried with wrecking the First National Bank of Abilene, were convicted yesterday, and sentenced to five years in the penitentiary. Lowden was at one time the Republican nominee for Governor of Texas.

But Peaceful Associations of the Sabbath Are Not Allowed to Disturb Toil at the Brick Piles—Greatest Activity Marks First Stages of Regeneration—Comprehensive Review of a Day.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.)

SAN FRANCISCO, April 22.—Had it not been for the sight of the crude altars set up in the open air wherever San Francisco's homeless thousands were camped, one would have had some difficulty in finding any of the peaceful associations of the Sabbath in this city today.

Everywhere throughout the burned as well as the remaining section of the city, there was the greatest activity. Streets were being cleared of debris; laborers were repairing broken water pipes, sewers and gas mains; electricians were everywhere seeking to unlock the people, is no longer a serious problem. About two-thirds of the remaining section of the city is being supplied with sufficient water for the pressing domestic needs, but, of course, there is not yet enough to be had for fire-fighting purposes. All cooking for the present must be done on the sidewalks or in the open streets, and in the daylight.

SYSTEMATIC WORK.

One of the noteworthy features of the situation is the remarkable promptness with which the work of systematically caring for the homeless has been thoroughly organized and put into operation. The fear that existed two days ago that the immense task of caring for the destitute and helpless people could not be organized quick enough to save thousands from hunger and possible epidemic exists no longer.

tangle the almost hopeless confusion of wires—in fact, San Francisco was in the first stages of its regeneration.

FORGOT NOT TO WORSHIP.

Religious services were conducted by every denomination in the various parks and at every other place where people were in camp. Improvised altars were set up in many places and the ceremonials carried out before thousands of earnest and devout worshipers.

MAGNIFICENT RESPONSE.

There are no hungry people here tonight; the gaunt spectre of starvation has been banished by the magnificent response of the people of California in particular, and by the entire nation in general, to the appeals that went out for assistance. Food by the carload and boatload poured into Oakland last night and today, in sufficient quantities to overwhelm the committee which has in charge its distribution.

So great was the volume of foodstuffs brought into the general depot at Oakland Mole that the general committee today made an appeal for skilled labor in the handling of these supplies. Grocers, butchers and commission men have been requested to secure men who are familiar in the handling of foodstuffs, in order that the confusion attendant upon the distribution at the stations established might go on without confusion.

EVEN CAKES AND ORANGES.

The homeless people are no longer obliged to subsist upon bread and canned stuff entirely, as they had been during the previous days of their trying experience; but were today given hot coffee, canned meats, and even cakes and oranges. Oranges have come in a plentiful supply from Southern California, and the sight of California's famous product was everywhere hailed with words of delight.

FOOD SUPPLIES MUST CONTINUE.

It must not be understood by the charitable people of the country that there is a surfeit of food for the sufferers. While the supply is abundant at this writing, it is well for the public to remember that the homeless thousands must be fed and cared for by the organized relief committees for an indefinite period. It is desired, therefore, that contributions be continued everywhere until the people who have been rendered helpless and destitute by the city's misfortune can care for themselves.

The water situation, while necessarily causing great inconvenience to the people, is no longer a serious problem. About two-thirds of the remaining section of the city is being supplied with sufficient water for the pressing domestic needs, but, of course, there is not yet enough to be had for fire-fighting purposes. ## BRAVE WORK SAVES MINT.

Band of Employees Play the Part of Heroes.

For Seven Hours They Fight Scorching Flames.

Are Driven Back Repeatedly but Finally Win.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.)

SAN FRANCISCO, April 22.—A landmark of San Francisco that escaped destruction, though every building surrounding it was destroyed, is the United States Mint on the corner of Fifth and Mission streets. Harold French, an employe of the mint, gave a graphic account of how the flames were successfully fought. He said:

"Nearly two hundred million dollars in coin and bullion are stored in the vaults of the mint and for the preservation of this prize a devoted band of employes, reinforced by regular soldiers, fought until the baffled flames fled to the conquest of stately blocks of so-called fireproof buildings."

"For seven hours the fire surged around the great gold and Federal edifice, attacking it on all sides with waves of searing heat. Its little garrison was cut off from retreat for hours at a time, but such a course had been thought of by those on guard."

"The United States Mint was constructed in 1874 of granite and sandstone blocks, massive monoliths well suited to repel fire and water. Within, however, were enough inflammable materials to feed a lively conflagration. Iron shutters shielded the lower floors, but the windows of the upper story, on which are located the refinery and assay office, were unprotected. Also a tarred roof over the refinery constituted a weak spot in the defense. Tanks of wood and other inflammable material scattered about the roof and upper story were a serious menace."

ROOF IS CLEARED.

"After the fire had swept past the Mission-street entrance and the vestiges of returning from the north became apparent, Captain of the Watch Hayes ordered everything on the roof that would burn thrown into the yard. Soldiers and mint employes worked with utmost haste, throwing great timbers, iron beams and other materials over these located some thirty tanks of blue vitriol, the surfaces of which soon were covered with debris into which increasing showers of cinders fell."

Soldiers and mint employes worked with utmost haste, throwing great timbers, iron beams and other materials over these located some thirty tanks of blue vitriol, the surfaces of which soon were covered with debris into which increasing showers of cinders fell."

"At the fire swept on Fifth street, the heat increased to a dangerous degree as one by one, the Metropolitan Hall and the Historic Lincoln-school building burst into flame, reinforced by the roaring furnace of the Emporium."

"On the west the block bounded by Sixth and Market street on the north, gave the gravest concern, for from this quarter the fire was certain to race northward. At the worst point, fanned by a northerly wind, the flames roared through the structures, reaching from the Windsor Hotel to the Emma Spreckels Building, sheets of fire 200 feet high. In the block bounded by these tinders, the blast of fire burst on the northwest corner of the mint like the breath of a second Pelee."

"A few desperate fighters under ex-Chief Kennedy of the City Fire Dept. from behind the tottering chimneys, under whose twin terrors they had struggled to the last, throwing buckets of water upon the blazing roof over the Emporium, were large due to the presence of former ex-Chief Kennedy that this tar-covered roof was the weakest spot of all, was saturated with sufficient water to stay the flames."

SKIRTING FIRE AREA IN AN AUTOMOBILE.

Press Representatives Make Twenty-Six Mile Ride Defining Boundaries.

Start Taken from Pacific Mail Dock — Financial, Commercial and Densely-Populated Sections With Their Splendid Institutions and Great Mansions Outlined—Flaming Embers in a Thousand Places.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.)

AN FRANCISCO. April 22.—The fire having exhausted itself, with the exception of still flaming embers in a thousand places here and there throughout the burned district, the Associated Press, for the purpose of determining with accuracy the boundaries of the conflagration, sent out an automobile today which skirted the fire on its four sides. The register of this machine at the end of the trip showed that it had traveled twenty-six miles, which, therefore, may be known as the length of the line along the street at this point to pick up the building at the southeast corner of Fifteenth and First, and then went along the west line of Polson to Fifteenth, but leaving intact the structure at the northwest corner of Fifteenth and Polson.

FIFTEENTH TO EIGHTEENTH.

Along the northwest line of Fifteenth it ate its way to Shotwell, and along the west line of Shotwell to Fifteenth, and then, turning south, it traveled to Howard and along the south line of Howard to Eighteenth, where it again diverged northerly along the street to the northwest corner of Van Ness and Eighteenth, and then went along the west line of Polson to Fifteenth, but leaving intact the structure at the northwest corner of Fifteenth and Polson.

GOLDEN GATE TO VAN NESS.

Along the southerly line of McAllister, the flames made their way to Gough, stopping long enough to consume the northwest corner of Gough and McAllister. Thence along the easterly line of Gough to Golden Gate avenue, thence along the southerly line

Golden Gate avenue to Van Ness, and along the easterly line of Van Ness to Sutter, where they crossed to the west side and burned the blocks from the north line of Sutter and the east line of Franklin, through to Clay.

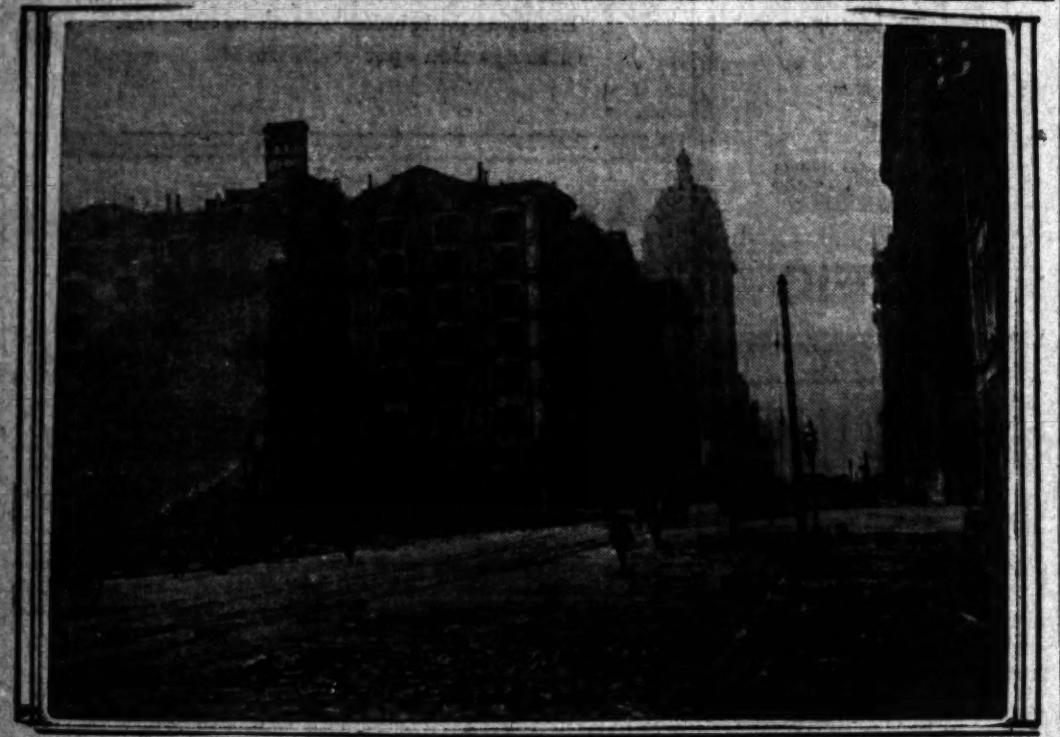

SPLENDIDE MANSIONS GONE.

In the splendor of the fire included some of the most splendid mansions of the city, chief among which was the majestic home of Claus Spreckels, at the southwest corner of Clay and Van Ness. This splendid piece of architecture, done in brown stone in the chateau style and adorned with all that wealth and taste could gather, still stands, though blackened and in a state of disrepair, a melancholy testimony of the futility of human endeavor.

FORT MASON TO CITY FRONT.

Still burning along the east line of Van Ness, north toward Fort Mason, the fire reached Greenwich, along the south line of which it spread to Larkin and along the east line of Larkin to Lombard; thence along the south line of Lombard to Hyde and along the east line of Hyde to Chestnut, thence thence along the south line of Chestnut to Taylor; thence along the east line of Taylor to Bay, along the south line of Bay to Mason.

which the flames traveled. This area included the financial, commercial and much of the densely-populated portion of the residence district, with all its splendid institutions and great mansions that had grown up with the progress of the city.

FROM PACIFIC MAIL DOCK.

The start of the tour was made from the Pacific Mail dock, at the corner of First and Brannan streets. Traveling along the north line of Brannan, the fire ate its way to Second street, where it crossed the street and consumed the warehouse of the great wine firm of Leichman & Jacobs, at the southeastern corner of Brannan and Second. Thence it moved along the west side of Second to Townsend, and along the north line of Townsend and, along the north line of Townsend in Seventh.

"Z-SPEED" GREAT BUILDING.

On that particular front it leaped up the great building of the Southern Pacific at the corner of Fourth and Townsend streets. This building was formerly the main office of the system under the Huntington regime, but of late years had been used by the auditors of the railroad and passenger agents. On its contents, only the records were saved. But directly in front of the ruins there were already evidences of the undaunted spirit that animates the citizens of San Francisco in the face of 50 million dollars of work clearing the debris from Fourth street in order that the Southern Pacific might run spur tracks nearly along the line of Fourth to Market, for the purpose of carrying away the immense mass of burning and ruined material littering the streets and the sites of the business houses that so lately crowded that area. And in this connection it is noted that the freight and passenger depot along the south side of Townsend street, as far east as Third, though built in the most flimsy manner and of the most perishable materials, were not so much as scorched.

CHURCH OF ST. ROSE.

Standing at the corner of Fourth and Townsend streets, one's eye caught the ruins of the great brick Catholic Church of St. Rose, one block from the Bay. This building, some eight years ago suffered a visitation of fire and had only lately risen on its ruins in what seemed to be imperishable brick and stone.

EAST LINE OF SEVENTH.

From Townsend, at the corner of Seventh, the fire burned along the east line of Seventh, northerly, half way down to Clay, where it crossed and burned half the block on the southerly line of Brannan, between Seventh and Eighth. Thence crossing Brannan, Eighth to Bryant; then along the south line of Bryant, half way down, thence along the north line of Bryant to Judson; a small street half way distant between Tenth and Eleventh, sparing the northeast corner of Eleventh and Bryant. The fire then crossed the east line of Juniper to Harrison, thence along the east line of Harrison to Fourteenth and along the north line of Fourteenth to Polson, jumping the north line of Eighteenth as far as Capp, and thence along the west line of Capp.

QUEEN'S TERRIBLE EFFECTS.

In the immediate district it was noted that the block bounded by Second and Eleventh and Howard and Shotwell though spared by the flames, had been terribly shaken by the quake. In some instances the houses were a mass of ruins, it being thought that all the buildings in the group block, save one or two that might be saved from the wrecks were those of Lawyer W. C. Graves at No. 318 Howard street. Even the frame Catholic Church of St. Charles, at Second and Eleventh, was reported to be unsafe.

The streets in this vicinity were sunken from six to eight feet in places, and the earth opened in great gaps, while the rails of the street system were twisted and broken.

WEST LINE OF CAPP.

In its progress, the conflagration consumed all the dwellings along the west line of Capp to a point half way between Nineteenth and Twenty-first, leaving intact the row of residences fronting on the northerly line of Twenty-first, between Capp and the line of Second, where it ate along the north line of Twenty-first to Dolores, at which point it was stayed by the great openings which were formerly the Jewish groceries of this city, but which, within the last year, had been purchased by the municipality and were in process of being converted into a pleasure ground. Here are encamped some of the many thousands who are homeless.

INDEPENDENT FIRE STARTS.

Before leaving this district, it may be mentioned that an independent fire, started, we are informed, immediately after the tremor, in the dry goods store of Lippman, at the corner of Twenty-second and Mission. This fire burned over an area of 150x200 feet, but, there being water in the main, it was checked.

NORTHERLY ON DOLORES.

Traveling northerly on Dolores, from Twenty-first, there was nothing but a waste to be seen on the east line of Dolores, except a vestige remaining of the handwork of the Sisters of Notre Dame. At the northerly end of Dolores, where it meets the extension of Market street, the flames were driven by the wind, cut at this point, eastward, easterly, thence along the south line of Clinton Park to Guerrero and along the east line of Guerrero, ruining in their course the half-constructed houses, which, as they spread along the easterly side of that thoroughfare, easterly to Capp.

EAST LINE OF GOUGH.

Thence along the east line of Gough to Page; along the north line of Gough, half way to Octavia, sparing the row of buildings along the easterly line of Octavia, but, as far as Octavia, reached to the easterly end of Octavia and along that line northerly to Fulton, where, on the west side, they were fronted by a half-burned block of the half-million dollars worth of valuable warehoused belonging to the importing merchants of San Francisco. The saving of this and the adjoining buildings is ascribed to the heroic efforts of Capt. Wolfe, who, with such means as they had at hand, succeeded in fighting off the devouring element.

CLIFF HOUSE STILL STANDS.

FIRST REPORTS OF DESTRU- CTION PROVE FALSE.

Small Damage is Done—Its Escape
One of the Curious Features of the Whole Disaster—Manager Offers to Turn It Over to the General Relief Committee for Refugees.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.)

SAN FRANCISCO, April 22.—A thorough inspection made by a representative, who made the trip in an automobile, shows that comparatively little damage was done in the vicinity of the Cliff House. The Cliff House itself was not damaged, but damage sustained from the earthquake shock to this historic building will not exceed, according to the statements of Manager, Wilkins, $500. In fact, the escape of the Cliff House is one of the curious features of the disaster which has beenfallen San Francisco.

The famous Sutro baths, located near the Cliff House, with its hundreds of thousands of square feet of glass roof, also was practically unharmed.

Only a few of the windows in the structure, built in 1881, Cliff House were broken, and the lower chimney of the pumping plant of the former establishment was cracked only slightly.

Manager Wilkins of the Cliff House notified the General Relief Committee that he would turn over his establishment, as well as the immense store of his residence, which are unharmed, to the housing of the homeless. The only difficulty about the acceptance of this tender would be the difficulty of transporting supplies that distance, which was supplied to the Cliff House and the buildings in that vicinity has been cut off, but it is expected that an independent supply will be arranged for some time to come.

The famous Sutro baths, located near the Cliff House, and along the beach from Golden Gate southward, suffered less from the earthquake than probably any other section of the San Francisco Peninsula.

The camps of refugees extend as far westward through the park as the beach. Every one said they were receiving enough to eat and drink, but in order to get their supplies they were about two hours from the park as long as two hours. This, of course, worked serious hardship on many of the women, who were in a state of exhaustion.

There was much complaint on account of the cold at night from those who were not provided for in tents, and who were obliged to seek shelter beneath the shrubbery with very insufficient protection from the cold.

The condition, no doubt, will be considerably improved today, as tents and coverings of all sorts are arriving at the headquarters of the relief committee from the interior of California, as well as from the East.

Secretary Pardes, in discussing the complete and new buildings which will be restored. From what I have learned of the plans for the future, my impression is that no such buildings will ever be erected again. There will be no more brick structures. Everything will be of steel and concrete, and quite probably there will be no buildings on the grounds more than two stories high. Besides, the cottage system will be improved.

"Operations are now confined to the temporary relief of the situation. A tent city has sprung up, and Dr. Leonard Stocking, the superintendent, is doing wonders in bringing order out of chaos. Tents, beds, and bedding are being put up, and sanitary conditions are being re-established as rapidly as possible.

It is worthy of note that many of the patients volunteered and worked like Trojans for the relief of their injured comrades.

"The grounds are patrolled night and day, not only by attendants, but also by volunteers from San José, who have sworn in as deputies for the Sheriff of the county."

BERKELEY, April 22.—A private letter received today brings the information that Fort Bragg, one of the principal lumbering towns of Mendocino county, has been totally destroyed as the result of a fire following the earthquake of last Wednesday morning.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 22.—The soldiers and the police are forcing every available man in the downtown district of the city to work, no matter where he is found or under what conditions. One party of men that came down in an automobile yesterday were stopped on Market street by the soldiers. The well-dressed men were ordered out of the machine and compelled to assist in clearing the debris from Market street, so that provisions may be hauled up through the center of the city. Then the automobile was loaded with provisions and sent out to relieve the hungry in the poor sections.

Men coming from the unburned district in the Western Addition with the intention of crossing the bay to go to Oakland and Berkeley were stopped in the downtown sections and put to work.

CLOTHES AGGRAVATED SOLDIERS

One case which attracted attention was that of a young man who was pressed into service by the soldiers. He came clad in a fashionable summer suit, straw hat and kid gloves. The minute the guards caught sight of him he was grabbed and ordered to help clear the debris from Market street off the car tracks. At first he hesitated, but the sharp point of a bayonet convinced him that there was no escape, and for the next five hours he was a slave to the work. In spite of his handsome attire, a result of this system the streets are being rapidly cleaned.

REPAIRING THE SEWERS.

The inspection of the sewers made today by the Board of Public Works shows that the outlets to the systems in the residence section, remaining unburned, are all in good condition save two.

In the district south of Market street, few, if any, systems remain. President Maestrelli, of the Board of Works, describes the condition as "despairing." In the business district, no inspection has as yet been made.

The work of repairing the sewers needed at once is now under way. Gangs of workmen are being sent out. Teams and wagons have been secured, and some sort of order is being established.

PLUMBERS AND DOCTORS.

Plumbers and doctors are needed. Some are volunteering, but the demand far exceeds the supply. The sanitation system is becoming increasingly difficult. Householders and all campers have been ordered to remove garbage and refuse to the curb lines of the streets. The health department has imposed a heavy fine to encourage to carry away this debris. The supply of chlorine or lime is nearly exhausted.

THE CITY IN BRIEF.

NEWS AND BUSINESS.

FLOURISHING CONGREGATION.

The first communion service held in the Third Presbyterian Church yesterday, Rev. S. T. Montgomery, the pastor, received fifty-three new members into the church.

HURRY BY FLASH LIGHT.

M. P. Christensen, a photographer living at No. 519 Ruth Avenue, was injured in the explosion of a flash-light gun at the Arcadia station last evening. A piece of glass which entered the eye about the right eye was removed by the police surgeon.

STRUCK BY A CAR.

James J. French, a carpenter, employed at the Evans Ranch in Mission Road was struck by San Gabriel car No. 25 at Mission Road and Eastside Avenue just outside the city limits. He was hurried to the nearby Receiving Hospital, where it was found that the right leg was fractured and the left leg badly mangled. He was operated upon at the hospital that night in the hope of saving his life.

BREVITIES.

For the benefit of San Francisco sufferers, I will give all my commissary on my policies which by express—Government, State, City and Relief Messages Go by Wire if They Concern Relief Business.

ANXIETY OVER.

Both Local Companies Send Most of Their Work to Oakland by Express—Government, State, City and Relief Messages Go by Wire if They Concern Relief Business.

ANXIETY OVER.

Anxious and fear-stricken citizens of Los Angeles who had friends of relatives in the burned city of San Francisco, must wait and hope or go to them by railroad, for they cannot be reached by telegrams.

Neither the Western Union Company or the local will take any messages from here to be telegraphed to Oakland for private parties, and have actually not sent any private messages over their wires for days or since last Wednesday. They will accept messages over their counters, but they send them to Oakland every evening on the Owl train, and will probably continue this system all this week. Absolutely no messages are sent over the wires to or from the government and State officials and the relief committees, and all of these must concern the catastrophe at San Francisco.

The congestion of business at the local telegraph offices is something remarkable, and the local managers do not know, and will not even guess when they can be able to handle private messages. The Western Union Company has seventy-five men working night and day in their office on the top floor of the Western Union Building on Spring Street, and have 4000 messages for the East piled up on a table waiting to be sent. A notice is posted at the street entrance of the office that all messages for the East are subject to a delay of three to four hours. Delay, and that none will be taken for northern points. Each company has two single wires working into Oakland, and on these all the business is done. Both lines are on the "valley" route, the one along the Colorado River being in the ditch, from earthen banks. The Western Union has a single wire to Sacramento, and also one to Illinois, and the Postal is no better off. By a "single" wire is meant one on which but one message can be sent at a time. Oakland is the only place of way for messages to this city because the unfortunate can more easily reach their friends in this city than they can be reached in Oakland. In fact no one in Oakland can receive a message from here, and if one goes to the Oakland office and asks for it, for there is no delivery service, for the refugees have no fixed address.

Since Wednesday morning, when the earthquake threw down the wires, 1200 messages have been handled by the Western Union from this city to Oakland by train and dozens have been coming here each day by the same means. Over 1000 came in last night at 8 o'clock. These are now being copied and will be delivered as soon as possible. Eight more Western Union men will arrive this morning from Kansas City to help the local force. There is no stop in the office, and the work is being done by hand, with their desks as they sit at their instruments, and many of them work for thirty-six hours at a stretch.

Good news for many is contained in the messages from the local Western Union manager, Mr. Miller, in arrangements, after much effort, to pay money at the Oakland office on telegraphic orders from this city, and from the earthquake-stricken sufferers in Oakland to leave there.

"I wish to state to you, on my honor, that I have never signed any statement to decease the public in a mining-stock transaction was exposed in The Call last week, at which time the State Mineralogist of California asked the Postoffice Department to issue a fraud order against the Cahuiilla Mining Company of Boston.

This company has issued a pamphlet called "The Cahuiilla," which makes all the above untrue statements as to stamp it as a cheat. One of the schemes exploited in "The Cahuiilla" by the company of that name, was to sign certain documents with the name of "John H. Whitlock," a mining engineer of this city.

Mr. Whitlock now states that he knew nothing of this improper use of his name until the expose by this Times, and in connection with this issue:

"I wish to state to you, on my honor, that I have never signed any statement containing any such language as your article set forth. If I have signed any such statement, it was put there without my knowledge, and was certainly without my consent.

"I located some claims for that company, indeed the claims to me and removed from them some of their mineral stock. They also employed me on a monthly salary to do work for them in this State, or wherever they might send me. I made several trips for them, and last January I was in Mexico on their behalf. The company, without any previous notice, and without any cause, as far as I know, I was summarily dismissed from their service and left Mexico on my own resources, and since February 1 I have not been in their employ.

"I do not know what the company is doing in the East, or the securities company mentioned in your article. I do not know. I have never been called into their counsels, and they have run this without my knowledge without my consent. While I was made a director, as far as I was concerned, I was merely an employee of theirs, and I do not feel that I should be held to blame for their dishonest practices when I am entirely innocent of any wrongdoing whatever."

WOMEN WANTED.

ANGELOHE HEIGHTS CALL.

Women of Angelino Heights will have a splendid opportunity to aid in the relief of suffering women and children through the work of the movement of which Mrs. William Baurhite is in charge that section of the city, complete suits of clothing and an assortment of other things needed by women and children will be collected and sent to responsible agents in the North who will give an account of the disposition of the donations.

Mrs. Baurhite, whose address is No. 2022 Edgeware Road, near the corner of Dorsey and Main, Main 2562, says she will provide every article with a typewritten or oral list of everything that is wanted.

What is desired is for 100 women to furnish suits of clothing for women and children, including also toothbrushes, combs and brushes; in fact, everything that may be needed by an individual day and night. These things, as each package containing them should be marked with a list of contents, together with the sizes of the underclothing, shoes, skirts, waists and other apparel.

Warm garments, especially, are desired, as it is cold for the destitute ones who are camping in parks and other places in the open. Angelino Heights is expected to do its duty nobly.

He was hurried to the nearby Receiving Hospital, where it was found that the right leg was fractured and the left leg badly mangled.

He was operated upon at the hospital that night in the hope of saving his life.

ANXIETY OVER.

Both Local Companies Send Most of Their Work to Oakland by Express—Government, State, City and Relief Messages Go by Wire if They Concern Relief Business.

ANXIETY OVER.

Anxious and fear-stricken citizens of Los Angeles who had friends of relatives in the burned city of San Francisco, must wait and hope or go to them by railroad, for they cannot be reached by telegrams.

Neither the Western Union Company or the local will take any messages from here to be telegraphed to Oakland for private parties, and have actually not sent any private messages over their wires for days or since last Wednesday. They will accept messages over their counters, but they send them to Oakland every evening on the Owl train, and will probably continue this system all this week. Absolutely no messages are sent over the wires to or from the government and State officials and the relief committees, and all of these must concern the catastrophe at San Francisco.

The congestion of business at the local telegraph offices is something remarkable, and the local managers do not know, and will not even guess when they can be able to handle private messages. The Western Union Company has seventy-five men working night and day in their office on the top floor of the Western Union Building on Spring Street, and have 4000 messages for the East piled up on a table waiting to be sent. A notice is posted at the street entrance of the office that all messages for the East are subject to a delay of three to four hours. Delay, and that none will be taken for northern points. Each company has two single wires working into Oakland, and on these all the business is done. Both lines are on the "valley" route, the one along the Colorado River being in the ditch, from earthen banks. The Western Union has a single wire to Sacramento, and also one to Illinois, and the Postal is no better off. By a "single" wire is meant one on which but one message can be sent at a time. Oakland is the only place of way for messages to this city because the unfortunate can more easily reach their friends in this city than they can be reached in Oakland. In fact no one in Oakland can receive a message from here, and if one goes to the Oakland office and asks for it, for there is no delivery service, for the refugees have no fixed address.

Since Wednesday morning, when the earthquake threw down the wires, 1200 messages have been handled by the Western Union from this city to Oakland by train and dozens have been coming here each day by the same means. Over 1000 came in last night at 8 o'clock. These are now being copied and will be delivered as soon as possible. Eight more Western Union men will arrive this morning from Kansas City to help the local force. There is no stop in the office, and the work is being done by hand, with their desks as they sit at their instruments, and many of them work for thirty-six hours at a stretch.

Good news for many is contained in the messages from the local Western Union manager, Mr. Miller, in arrangements, after much effort, to pay money at the Oakland office on telegraphic orders from this city, and from the earthquake-stricken sufferers in Oakland to leave there.

"I wish to state to you, on my honor, that I have never signed any statement containing any such language as your article set forth. If I have signed any such statement, it was put there without my knowledge, and was certainly without my consent.

"I located some claims for that company, indeed the claims to me and removed from them some of their mineral stock. They also employed me on a monthly salary to do work for them in this State, or wherever they might send me. I made several trips for them, and last January I was in Mexico on their behalf. The company, without any previous notice, and without any cause, as far as I know, I was summarily dismissed from their service and left Mexico on my own resources, and since February 1 I have not been in their employ.

"I do not know what the company is doing in the East, or the securities company mentioned in your article. I do not know. I have never been called into their counsels, and they have run this without my knowledge without my consent. While I was made a director, as far as I was concerned, I was merely an employee of theirs, and I do not feel that I should be held to blame for their dishonest practices when I am entirely innocent of any wrongdoing whatever."

INTO FAIR HAVEN STREAM REFUGEES.

With Open Arms Los Angeles Welcomes Hundreds Who Have Lost All.

Destitute Ones of San Francisco, Reduced to Common Level of Poverty by Overwhelming Disaster, Come in Six Long Trains During the Day and Are Given Shelter and Food by Local People.

Like weary pilgrims coming into the promised land, the real vanguard of the movement of thousands of San Francisco sufferers to Los Angeles arrived at 8 o'clock last night, and were royally welcomed as the guests of the City of the Angels. Of all the cities in the world, rich and poor, two years ago, one and all they entered the gates of the city last night, upon the high and honored plane of sufferers of the great disaster. While some brought with them a few belongings, and others but the clothes upon their backs, and while some were black, and others were brown and yellow, and some undoubtedly more or less familiar to the police of their city, all carried the badge of a common woe which was the passport without question into the hearts and generous sympathies of the citizens of Los Angeles.

SIX LONG TRAINS.

While six long trains during the day brought into the city their quota of the thousands fleeing from the scenes of disaster, it remained for the last of these trains with thirteen coaches, to bring in those who were relief and succor the generous thousands of this city so readily responded.

In this train there was not a vacant seat. Of the 800 passengers aboard, as far as could be ascertained, there was not a paid fare.

The refugees arriving on the earlier trains had thus far in the main been able to take care of themselves, or they have come to Los Angeles to meet friends or relatives.

But the 800 in this long train were the left constitute of everything. They come to Los Angeles as strangers, but their woeful plight is the only introduction needed.

FROM TEENING MASS.

That last train was a slice of San Francisco's teeming cosmopolitan population which might have been hewn out anywhere from China to the Arctic Circle, from back to Van Ness avenue, but the relief committees received them all without inquiry into antecedents.

There were men who had lost fortune in a day, and those to whom a ticket to Los Angeles represented more surplus capital than they had ever dreamed of acquiring in all their lives. But they all drank the hot coffee and ate the sandwiches at the Arcade Station, with a common relish, and devoured the sandwiches and food-stuffs spread before them with a hunger that made no discrimination.

In the closed crowd, coached in Orient and Occident, rubies above. Women of refinement, clad in torn and rumpled finery, sat next to laborers whose work-stained clothes represented all of their worldly possessions, and dressed in one and all the stories of their escape and privations. The stupefying effect of a great weariness was everywhere apparent. To sit for twenty hours in the seats of crowded coaches in the exposure to try the strongest men, the wonder was how the delicate women and little children stood it, following upon the trials and privations of the awful week through which they had passed.

THIS CITY APPEALS.

The little man with the glasses was. It was interesting to note why they had come to Los Angeles in such large numbers, when they might all have watching every train that came from the north, as neither the telegraph nor the mail apprised him of the fate of the loved ones in the northern city. Last night his weary vigil was rewarded and the awful suspense ended.

And these were but typical of many such reunions, where the living are welcomed back from the dead, their voices through the muffled gates of the Arcade Station being the first intimation given the weary watchers of their well-being.

But yesterday and days before, there were many who, through and throughed about those gates of hope or despair, who have looked in vain for loved ones who have not come, and of whom there are so far no tidings. Today may bring them their reward.

HORDES YET TO COME.

Thirteen thousand more refugees, it is said, will make their way across the bridge and will leave Oakland today. Almost the entire number have expressed a desire to come to Los Angeles.

A prominent Southern Pacific official, who came down last night from Oakland, said he had left 700 of these from among the least fortunate characters of the metropolis. The railroad company is besieged by gangs of hobos and vagabonds, who try to secure free transportation. There are thousands of these men, who are on their way to Los Angeles in the hope of securing plenty to eat and an easy berth. They refuse to work.

fully dressed, showing that they had their attire.

THE HALT AND BLIND.

There were many cripples and several blind persons among the refugees, and one man and a woman, evidently his wife, who were deaf mutes.

While there were hundreds of pathetic scenes there were some which made even the tired refugees smile. One was a small child who traveled all alone from Pomeroy, Oregon, which she carried over her arm. She had not had time to save much clothing and carried absolutely no personal effects save the small white dog over which she cooed and told the story of her life to a sick child. When she was given food she first gave some of the choicest bits to her "darling" as she addressed the dog.

Two other women alighted from the train, one wearing a torn silk coat and carrying canary cage.

Soon there were two women to each luggage a canary cage and nothing else.

FEEDING THE HUNGRY THROGS.

The wide space just west of the northern wing of Arcade station had been roped off and the ropes and scores of policemen kept back the multitude who had gone to the station to look for food and also to aid if needed in their distress.

Native Sons and Daughters served hot coffee and sandwiches. Many could not reach the lunch counters owing to the rush and were served by dozens of pretty girls and women in their parlors and in the lounge.

The refugees ate hungrily and from the way they looked when the hot coffee was distributed it was plain that the kindness and hospitality of the people of Los Angeles were genuine.

Some had partaken of no food for days and swallowed the coffee in great gulps, then looked appealingly at the servers, not daring to ask for another cup. Time and again the big cups were filled with the steaming coffee and the hungry refugees devoured almost without wonder that there was plenty for all.

They had been where even water was so scarce that it was necessary to wash in line and take the single cup while the audience in charge offered water. Some had partaken of no food for

filled with the steaming coffee and

without wonder that there was plenty for all.

COMMITTEES' GOOD WORK.

The work of the committees from the various organizations was especially good. Every one was given all that was wanted, and all were served quickly.
The relief regiments, the names of all the relief workers, were given to the Native Sons. This record will be kept for reference at their headquarters,

No. 211½ West Second street. There will be information bureaus where those who are able to do so for themselves can be directed to hotels or to the homes of their friends.

A. O. MARTIN BROUGHT HOME.

Austin O. Martin arrived from San Francisco last night on the Valley line. He was carried tenderly on a stretcher, but his suffering has been terrible and his experiences harrowing.
The train was severe pain shows on his face. He was taken to the he had been taken after sustaining a terrible injury at the mines near Carson City, Nev. He was taken to the home of his wife's parents in San

LOS ANGELES BALKS AT ROUGH ELEMENT.

Will Continue to Contribute Liberally to the Sufferers in San Francisco But Does Not Like the Idea of Being Made Dumping Ground of Riff-raff.

THE Citizens' Committee has taken hold of the refugee situation and is firmly grasped. While willing to care for the general need, the commercial and business interests do not purpose to permit Los Angeles to be made the dumping ground for the red rioters and riff-raff of San Francisco.

Because the people of Los Angeles are big-hearted, the committee does not purpose that they shall be made easy marks by the undesirable element from the San Francisco water front.

General Passenger Agent Byrnes of the Santa Fe, and General Superintendent Ingram of the Southern Pacific, were invited to a conference yesterday by the committee. There they were told in language that would permit of no misinterpretation that the Citizens' Committee most strenuously objects to the issue of free transportation to the cast-offs on Oakland com-

Twenty-five pairs of provisions, clothing and supplies were sent north yesterday. The committee assured the agents that they would be entitled to double Los Angeles' subscription to the relief fund for caring for the destitute in and about San Francisco, but that they do not desire to encourage the bringing of the indolent here.

RESOLUTIONS PASSED. In the presence of railroad officials the committee reformed and followed the resolution which was adopted late Saturday night.

"That it is the judgment of this committee after a careful consideration of the subject, that the destitute sufferers of the earthquake can be more economically and satisfactorily cared for by the assistance being rendered to them on the ground and in the vicinity of San Francisco in suitable and healthy locations, rather than by inviting and bringing them here to care for them, and that the ministers of the Church Federation be requested to cooperate in their churches along similar lines, and furthermore, in this connection, this committee pledges itself, if necessary, to duplicate its efforts financially and otherwise to carry out the work of the relief as thus expressed."

Both officials assured the committee that the railroads have no desire to bring the indolent Americans in undesirable class of refugees. They invited the mercantile organizations to send a committee to Oakland to aid in the inspection of those who apply for free transportation. They said that the railroads will be willing to leave the selection to this committee, and the committee promptly selected President Story and J. O. Koepfli to go north as an inspection committee.

With the score of reports came to the committee yesterday of the appearance of rough characters in the turks. Some are just hanging about, others are begging, claiming to be refugees.

MANY PLANS TO AID.

FRATERNAL BROTHERHOOD. At a meeting Saturday of all presidents and officers of local lodges of the Fraternal Brotherhood a permanent relief association was organized and a circular was sent to every lodge outside the district affected by the disaster, asking that food and shelter committees be formed.

Local members of the Brotherhood have been requested to deliver supplies at the Brotherhood building on Figueroa street. All donations will be distributed by Supreme Chaplain Batchelor, who is in charge of the work at Oakland.

The Works and Means Committee, with Dr. W. J. Haney as chairman, was directed to devise methods of raising funds and gathering supplies. It is likely that the drill teams of the organization will unite with other fraternal organizations in giving a benefit drill.

Plans have been made for all members of the order to subscribe enough money to pay the dues of brothers in the North who are unable to keep up their ch. ch.

GERMAN ALLIANCE.

Twenty societies and lodges composing the German-American Alliance of Los Angeles donated $500 for the relief fund at a meeting Friday night and prepared for a benefit concert to be given next Sunday at 8 o'clock p.m. at Turner Hall, No. 321 South Main street. A number of leading artists and singing societies of the city have offered their services, and the receipts will go to the sufferers. R. E. Keener, No. 222 South Los Angeles street, is president of the alliance.

HERE'S A CHANCE.

SELL TIES FOR CHARITY. D. Hartman has offered to donate fifty dozen neckties for the San Francisco relief fund on condition that some prominent person sell them on the street at First and Spring streets Monday between the hours of 11 a.m. and 1 p.m.

OUTSIDE HELP.

SMALL TOWNS DO WELL. Fifteen hundred loaves of bread were sent from the Needles to San Francisco last evening by the people of the small town of 1,000. L. V. Root, chairman of the Needles Relief Committee, wired that other donations will follow tomorrow and Tuesday.

The cash contribution fund of the Citizens' Committee has been swelled to more than $125,000. Present prospects are that at least $20,000 in cash will be collected by this committee alone.

More contributions of provisions were received yesterday from outside towns than on any preceding day. From the various offices oranges and lemons were sent with carloads of jellies.

All the delivery wagons of the Broadway Department Store, and the delivery men of a dozen other firms, aided in the work.

DR. CHARLES TAGGART INSTANTLY KILLED.

Automatic Pistol Drops from His Pocket. Is Discharged and Bullet Passes Through His Heart—Had Been Ministering to the Injured.

BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 22.—Exclusive Dispatch. Dr. Charles F. Taggart of Los Angeles was shot and instantly killed this forenoon by the accidental discharge of his own pistol. The tragedy occurred on the steps of the temporary hospital established in the Crocker grammar school on Page street, near Baker, and was witnessed by Dr. Thomas Taggart, brother of the deceased, and Dr. G. A. Broggs, both of Los Angeles.

Dr. Taggart was descending a stair-in certain districts that it is not safe for a man to go unarmed. Dr. Taggart therefore carried his pistol with him.

The corps of nurses will remain on duty despite the tragic death of the physician who has been directing their work.

NEWS REACHES HOME.

Dr. TAGGART PROSTRATED. News of the death of Dr. Charles F. Taggart was received here shortly after noon yesterday, and was followed by expressions of profound sorrow from scores of persons of all classes. Dr. Taggart was one of the most widely known and universally esteemed physicians in Southern California.

As it struck the ground the weapon was discharged and Dr. Taggart was seen to fall to the ground, dead and stagger. His brother caught him, and as he held him the wounded man moaned: "Oh, my God, I'm killed."

In another moment he was dead. The bullet had passed through his heart.

Tenderly they bore the body into the hospital and laid it upon one of the cots and covered it with a sheet. Later it was removed to a place at which could be prepared for shipment to Los Angeles.

Dr. Taggart came to San Francisco among the first of those who rushed to the aid of the sufferers here from the south. He has charge of a corps of a corps of trained nurses and had been placed in charge of a temporary relief hospital a short distance from the limits of the burned district. Night and day he has been ministering to the sick and injured for the hospital was filled with victims of the disaster which has befallen the city. For days he did not remove his clothing, wearing what sleep he could during the time that the other physicians attended him. He did not complain, but worked hour after hour as long as his services were needed, and that was almost all the time.

It so happened that calls came in from outside points asking that a physician be sent to care for some wounded person, and the condition of affairs in San Francisco was such that he had to leave the hospital to attend to the needs of the city.

When friends went to the Taggart residence to notify Mrs. Taggart, she and her two sons—Dr. Charles and Arthur—were not at home. Upon their return, the heart-breaking information was conveyed to them in an tender a manner as possible.

The shock prostrated Mrs. Taggart. She had received a telegram from her husband only yesterday morning, telling her that he was well, and the news of his death followed so soon after that she could not bear to receive the blow all the more severe. No arrangements for the funeral can be made until the remains arrive from the North.

Dr. Taggart was a native of Palestine, Pa. He was born on Christmas day, 1860. He was educated in St. Louis and after being graduated by the St. Louis Medical College he came to California. Since 1886 he had been a resident of Los Angeles. He was prominent in Masonic circles, and his profession was regarded as one of the leaders in this section of the State.

A telegram from the North last night announced that Arthur Letts had reached San Francisco yesterday with the body and that he will reach Los Angeles today.

The benefit which had been arranged by Pacific Chapter, O.E.S., for this weekend at the home of J. J. Caldwell, No. 290 East Thirtieth street, for the benefit of the San Francisco sufferers has been postponed one week on account of the death of Dr. Taggart.

He believed he was one of those who escaped from the Asylum.

The police and those who witnessed the actions of the man say there is no doubt but that he is insane, and they believe he is one of the large number of patients who escaped. If not he has been driven mad by his terrible experiences in San Francisco. The case will be investigated today.

He had a ticket to Los Angeles, and he was given a place to sleep in the home of a man who was one of the few who had been turned by his experiences, but suddenly he became dangerous, and his wild looks caused those standing near to fall back in terror.

A number of passengers who arrived on the train stated that Smith had boarded the train south of San Jose, and at various times during the trip down had become violent, and frightened the other passengers.

When he alighted from the train he was quiet enough until he reached the large space roped off for the refugees.

Mounting a box he began a harangue in the course of which he urged the refugees against the people of Los Angeles, and also stated that every one would have to hurry for the last car would soon leave. At first all were too busy to pay heed to him. It was not long, however, before he was one of the sufferers whose mind had been turned by his experiences, but suddenly he became dangerous, and his wild looks caused those standing near to fall back in terror.

A man, carrying a bundle of clothes tied up in a flour sack, stepped into the circle and, like a flash, the maniac had leaped to his side, grabbed the sack from her and, seizing her, she was dragged toward the entrance to the rear enclosure. She struggled faintly, but his grip tightened, and he hissed something in her ear which seemed to freeze her blood, and she trembled in open fear.

At this moment Patrolman Robertis appeared on the scene, and instantly grappled with the maniac. The powerful patrolman had all he could do to handle the mad man, but when he had got him under control Smith, seeing that the woman was his wife, and had to go with him.

The woman was so frightened that she could hardly speak, and said she did not know the man who had been here, but had only seen him on the train.

She told the officer that he was the woman's husband, and had to go with him.

QUICK RELIEF BY SANTA FE.

Special Arranged Friday and Stations Notified.

Train Leaves and Gathers
Six Carloads on Way.

All Distributed in Point Richmond Neat Day.

This is the story of the remarkable run of the Santa Fe special relief trains of fourteen baggage cars, which Edward Chambers, freight-traffic manager of the road, personally conducted, and delivered yesterday morning at the Santa Fe terminals in the heart of devastated San Francisco.

The story of the special and of what he saw in the once beautiful City of the Golden Gate, is here graphically told by Mr. Chambers exclusively for The Times in a dispatch sent last night from Point Richmond.

Friday, at 10:30 o'clock in the morning, the Santa Fe decided to send out a special relief train at noon, which Mr. Chambers volunteered personally to conduct.

W. G. Barnwell, general freight agent, sent word to all the agents along the line to advise citizens' committees that the special would carry all of the ready-cooked foods they could assemble.

TRAIN PULLS OUT.

The local committees, the hour and a half at their disposal, hurried a good supply to the La Grande station, where it was loaded aboard. Promptly at noon the train pulled out, with six baggage cars to be filled.

How quickly the outlying towns responded to the appeal is shown in Mr. Chambers' statement. Pasadena, Upland, Rialto and San Bernardino furnished each a carload of provisions, so that the train left the latter station with six full cars.

At 10:30 o'clock Saturday night Mr. Chambers arrived at Point Richmond with fourteen baggage cars filled with provisions. Early yesterday morning he placed the supplies aboard Santa Fe cars and ferried them bodily to San Francisco, where they were landed and unloaded most opportunely to add to the failing food stock.

This is Mrs. Chambers' graphic report from the trained point of view of the railroad, of the terrible conditions existing in San Francisco, and of the prospects for the immediate rehabilitation of that city:

RAILROAD MAN'S VIEWS.

"Our fourteen carloads of supplies were placed at Spear street early this morning, and all distributed before noon. Everything was in good shape and well received. Mr. Wells and I called on Gen. Farnsworth at his headquarters also on Mayor Schmidt. We attended a meeting of the general committee.

"Mr. Wells is a member of the transportation committee appointed by the Mayor and is taking hand and attending the meetings, and doing a good work, with his advice and the use of our floating equipment.

"Relief work is well organized. Everything is working with a will. The city is well policed by the regular police force, the soldiers under Gen. Farnsworth, and the marines under Admiral Glass.

"The smoke is clearing away and the fire is all out.

"I talked with a number of manufacturers, wholesalers and bankers, and never was a more determined lot of business men with the object of seeing that San Francisco is rebuilt better than ever.

"Of course it will take some time, but I am satisfied the new city will be built on an old location; that the upgrowth will be the wonder of the world.

"Mr. Wells has decided to go ahead immediately with the erection of our first depot on Spear street, and the improvements will be provided for in the plans. He has so informed the committee, so they can know our judgment of the future.

THROUGH CITY BY AUTO.

I made a trip in an automobile through the part of the city which the fire did not reach, and also through the burned districts both residential and business. Lots of it is in ruins.

"The fire did more damage than the earthquake, but the latter did considerable damage in certain portions of the city.

"I never saw people, that have passed through what they have, who are so good natured and determined as both the men and women in San Francisco.

"Californians may well feel proud of their citizens of San Francisco, and such a people never can be set back by earthquakes or fire. Bankers, merchants, lawyers, doctors, laborers and all are working together to care for the needs and repair what has been damaged.

"We have lost by fire our city of flesh and the Lombard-street freight depot, but we are organizing tomorrow to get our business and make delivery of all freight at our Spear-street and Harrison-street depots."

OTHER RELIEF TRAINS.

Yesterday the Coast Line of the Southern Pacific was opened through to San Francisco for the first time since the earthquake. No passenger trains, however, will be run through the route, nor will passengers be allowed to ride, nor any trains which the road may run over this line.

It is probable that a large portion of the relief supplies, especially of those intended for the army and the workmen in the relief work, will be sent by the Coast line, and to the Valley route of its burden of trains.

All day yesterday and all last night at the Southern Pacific freight houses relief supplies were loaded as rapidly as they were delivered from the wagons.

At 4 o'clock yesterday morning a train of twenty-two cars was sent north. At 8 o'clock last night another train of eight cars arrived for Oakland, while express cars loaded with provisions was sent one each on the Owl at 5 o'clock, and on the Valley express at 11:30 o'clock last night.

SWEDES TO MEET.

PLAN RELIEF BOARD.

Ministers of the Swedish churches of Los Angeles have met this morning and will take a call for a mass meeting of Swedes, which is to be held at 8 o'clock this evening at the First Congregational Church, Ninth and Hope streets, to organize a Swedish relief committee. There are about 5000 local Swedes, and it is expected that much will be accomplished by them in caring for their destitute countrymen in the North.

AID FROM NEGROES.

COLORED ELKS HELPING.

J. Albert Jaxon of Chicago, representing the Grand Lodge of colored Elks, arrived in this city yesterday from the East. He comes to cooperate with those working for the relief of the San Francisco sufferers. His grand lodge jurisdiction includes eighty-six subordinate lodges in the United States and Canada. He proposes to furnish cooks, tent makers, and other supplies, from his lodges for service in or about San Francisco, their wages to be paid by the lodges and their services to be the gift of the lodges for the relief work.

Mr. Jaxon is president of the Canadian Hotel at Hewitt street and Stephen Avenue. He is a teller in one of the large banking institutions of Chicago.

Major Harry Jones, also colored, representing Golden West Lodge, No. 86, of colored Elks of this city, will cooperate with Mr. Jaxon. Maj. Jones is staying at the St. Louis Hotel on Hayes Avenue.

FESTIVAL FOR RELIEF.

SUNDAY-SCHOOLS' CHANCE.

The opportunity of the Christian people of the city to give a concrete and splendid donation to the relief fund lies in the Sunday-school Song Festival.

Orders of every kind, societies and clubs are being credited with donations to one or another of the funds, and while individual church people are giving, there is no opportunity to give in the name of an organization. The Sunday-schools might well feel proud of a donation of several thousand dollars standing in their name, and this can be given in Fiesta Park on Thursday and Friday nights are patronized as they should be. The entire proceeds will go for relief.

At such concert there will be a chorus of voices, special numbers of great merit and a large orchestra, and the most entertaining music can be assured under the direction of Tuller and Merrick, who are master leaders.
